

About it

We are a group of women with a common problem, the lack of information about sexual health and sexuality among young people.

With this in mind, we come with this project to create a support network, generating not only information but also stimulating communication.

Contents

We made a research on teenager girls most asked questions about their own bodies, sexuality and relationships. Our goal is to help these girls to discover themselves offering content in a fun way

because my classmates made fun of most of the girls
